DELEGATES WILL HAVE TO EXPLAIN

Much Inquiry as to M. N. Johnson's Interest in Liquor Cases Reported Here.

MANY SURMISES OFFERED

Bohannon, Who Bought from Hundley, Shows That He Is Twenty-four Years Old.

Before he gets through with the charges he has brought against James T. Disney, manager of Murphy's Hotel, and George McD. Blake, manager of the George A. Hundley Grocery Company, M. N. Johnson, who made oath to the warrant on which the two men were arrested on a charge of selling liquor to minors, will have to make explanations concerning his interest in the matter that are expected to verge closely on the border line of scandal.

Bohannon Not a Minor. It developed yesterday that W. A. Bohannon, mentioned in the warrant as the minor who bought liquor from Hundley's, is twenty-four years old. Mr. Blake was satisfied that his establishment had been imposed upon, especially when he got from Bohannon yesterday the following signed statement:

"This is to certify that I did buy a quart bottle of liquor from the George A. Hundley Company (Inc.) on last Wednesday, which I had a perfect right to do, being at my next birthday, the 22d of the month, twenty-four years old, and that the clerk at Hundley's asked me my age before selling me."

Mr. Blake said last night that he is sure that the Anti-Saloon League had no part in the affair, and that the case will be dismissed when the record of Bohannon's age is presented to Justice Crutchfield. It is said now that the authorities have evidence which will disclose the identity of the person at whose instigation the warrants were issued.

Two warrants were sworn out against each of the managers, but the cases were continued in Police Court yesterday morning to March 24, owing to the absence of T. W. B. Wright, one of the minors who is alleged to have bought the whiskey. Justice Crutchfield issued a rule for him, and when found he will probably be arrested and held as a witness.

In the meeting which was called into conference with Commonwealth's Attorney Folkes and Major Werner, nothing was given out as to the results of the conference, but it is judged that they were of a highly interesting nature.

Johnson claims to be a detective. In court he was asked by Justice Crutchfield what was behind the affair, but Mr. Folkes, because the case had been continued, interrupted, saying that it would not be wise to go into it. It will be thoroughly gone into at a later date, however. The question is, if Johnson is really a detective, who employed him, and for what purpose? There are many surmises.

Rev. J. D. McAllister, field secretary of the Anti-Saloon League, has denied that the league has any interest in the case, and added that the league would not be guilty of resorting to such measures in the furtherance of its work.

Gave Him Money to Buy. More interesting light is thrown on Johnson's alleged machinations by a statement procured from one of the witnesses that Johnson handed him money beneath the table at which several of them were sitting and told him to purchase a round of drinks. It is said that Johnson spent about a week ago in the city, and that he had new-found friends—the minors—who that they even began to suspect the honesty of his intentions. He was seen several times, it is said, hanging round the Jefferson Hotel.

The bar-tenders at Murphy's Hotel declare that they had never seen him. They declare they asked the boys their ages and on the satisfactory assurance that they had attained the necessary ripeness of years sold liquor to them. Both places were exceedingly careful as to whom they sell, and every bartender at Murphy's Hotel is under strict orders not to sell to a minor or to a drunken man.

WEATHER BUREAU HELPFUL TO SCHOOLS

To the Editor of The Times-Dispatch: Sir,—I was very much pleased to note the action of the Board of Aldermen last night in passing the ordinance with reference to the Weather Bureau. From an educational standpoint, it is of the greatest importance to keep the pupils in the High School, and the failure to act these reports promptly would be a serious loss to us. I take pleasure in saying that the officers of the station when we have called upon them for information, with reference to the use of instruments and kindred matters. If the station were removed we would be deprived of this valuable assistance, and what is of even greater importance, the pupils would not have the opportunity, as they now do, to visit the station with their teacher and see in actual operation the work about which they have studied.

I sincerely hope The Times-Dispatch will continue to use its influence to have the station remain in Richmond. Yours sincerely, JAMES C. HARRWOOD, Principal Richmond High School.

WARD FUND "GRAB" AGAIN CARRIED OUT BY STREET COMMITTEE IN SECRET CAUCUS.

Without attracting the slightest attention either in this town or in this city, E. W. Overbey, the convicted cashier of the Mecklenburg Bank, was taken from the jail at Boydton early yesterday morning and brought here in charge of a special guard sent from the penitentiary. On his arrival at 2 o'clock over the Coast Line he was hurried to a cab and driven to the penitentiary, where he began at once to serve his three-year sentence. As was the case in Boydton, few were at the depot when he arrived, and none save the authorities knew that the Mecklenburg Institute inmate had caused so much interest throughout the State.
